The Company will also retain Usage Data for internal analysis purposes. Usage Data is generally retained for a shorter period, except when this data is used to strengthen the security or to improve the functionality of our service, or We are legally obligated to retain this data for longer time periods.

Transfer of your Personal Data

Your information, including Personal Data, is processed at the Company's operating offices and in any other places where the parties involved in the processing are located. It means that this information may be transferred to - and maintained on - computers located outside of your state, province, country or other governmental jurisdiction where the data protection laws may differ from those in your jurisdiction.

The Company will take all steps that are reasonably necessary to ensure that your data is treated securely and in accordance with this Privacy Policy and no transfer of your Personal Data will take place to an organization or a country unless there are adequate controls in place including the security of your data and other personal information.

Security Measures to Protect your Data

We maintain reasonable and appropriate security measures to protect Client Data from loss, misuse, and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and destruction.

Examples of security measures include physical access controls, HTTPS, restricted access to data, monitoring for threats and vulnerabilities, etc.

We also subject our services to internationally recognised certification and attestation standards.

Data Principals hold specific legal rights under the DPDPA framework:

Data Principals have certain rights with respect to their personal data. The rights given with respect to your personal data include:

1. The Right of Access: You have the right to access personal data and supplementary information. You can ask us for a copy of your personal information, along with a summary of personal data being processed and descriptions of all Data Processors involved.

2. The Right to Correction and Erasure: You can ask us to change, update, complete, or fix your data in certain cases, particularly if it's inaccurate, or ask us to erase/delete your personal data once the specific purpose for collection is fulfilled, unless legal obligations require retention.

3. The Right to Grievance Redressal: You have the right to register grievances regarding any act or omission of the Data Fiduciary. In accordance with the DPDPA framework, you must exhaust our internal grievance redressal mechanisms before escalating a complaint to the Data Protection Board of India (DPBI).

4. The Right to Nomination: The Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, provides data principals with a right to nominate a person on their behalf to exercise their rights and to ensure the safeguarding of personal data in the event of the data principal's death or incapacity. To exercise your Right to Nomination, you may contact us at [Insert Link to Nomination Form / Grievance Desk]
